QUESNEL THREATENED

Huge Ice Jam Starts Flood

QUESNEL, B.C. (CP)—A huge ice jam choked the Fraser River at this central British Columbia town again Tuesday night, pushing the river level up 16 feet in a matter of hours.

About 400 persons were evacuated from their homes along the river as floodwaters poured into low-lying sections.

Emergency flood control headquarters were set up by civic officials in the town's municipal hall and every available vehicle was being used to move residents and their belongings from the path of the flood.

Engineers warned residents further down the river that a sudden break in the ice jam would send a huge wall of water sweeping downstream.

It was the second jam in the river in three days. Explosives were used to free the ice at the weekend, when unseasonably warm temperatures started a premature thaw. At that time three men narrowly escaped being swept downstream on a chunk of ice when they blasted the jam.

Damage caused by flooding at the weekend was estimated by civic officials at $32,000. Most of the affected homes had no flood insurance.

Mayor A. V. Fraser said a state of emergency now exists in the town, which has been offered assistance by the provincial government.

Secret Army Terrorists Pledge To Beat De Gaulle

ALGIERS (AP)—The Secret Army Organization promised intensified resistance and stepped up mobilization against President de Gaulle today but said there will be no call for an immediate public uprising to block Algerian independence.

"You will see that we are not preparing a putsch, but a massive, progressive and methodical rising of the whole population," the rightist European terrorist organization told its followers in its newspaper, The Call of France.

"The fight will continue until the elimination of the traitor de Gaulle and until victory of the cause of French Algeria, the only one which can guarantee a lasting peace."

The statement said secret army field units are being slowly organized and stockpiling of food, medicine and gold by the European population has been ordered.

Author's Home Hit By Bomb

PARIS (Reuters)—A plastic bomb — weapon of the Secret Army Organization — exploded today outside the Paris home of novelist and government culture minister Andre Malraux.

A four-year-old girl and a man were injured in the explosion. The bomb was placed on a window ledge above Malraux's first-floor apartment.

The author and his wife were not home at the time but the bomb caused considerable damage to their apartment.

US Planning New Attack Upon Cuba Claims Zorin

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin said today the United States is completing final preparations for "a new aggression" against Cuba. He added that the Soviet Union is standing by its earlier pledge to support the Castro regime with "all necessary assistance."

Zorin spoke to the general assembly's 104-nation political committee.

Referring to the abortive landing of Cuban refugee forces in Cuba last April, he said: "The United States did not choose to draw the appropriate lesson from this failure at Cuban intervention. The United States is not only continuing, but is stepping up an aggressive policy against the government and people of Cuba."

He added: "The Soviet Union feels free to reserve its right, if there is armed intervention, to take with other countries all necessary steps to give the republic of Cuba all necessary assistance."

Argentine Plans Split With Cuba

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentina will break relations with Cuba's Communist regime later this week, a foreign ministry spokesman said Tuesday night.

The report, which the spokesman said was unofficial, coincided with a boycott of Argentina's three service secretaries and 24 military officers of a banquet President Arturo Frondizi gave for visiting former king Leopold of Belgium.

ROBERT KENNEDY'S VISIT

Japan's Youth Urged Join Fight On Poverty

OSAKA, Japan (AP)—U.S. Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy challenged Japan's youth today to join in a worldwide fight against poverty, ignorance and disease.

"As young people, we can do battle together as brothers to make great progress," Kennedy told students at a petroleum institute in the heart of Japan's teeming industrial area.

Enthusiastic students mobbed Kennedy when he arrived from Tokyo.

There were only brief demonstrations by Communists on the second day of his six-day visit to Japan. At a Kyoto hotel, as the Kennedy party drove up in a bus, about 100 Japanese Communists shouted: "Go home, Robert Kennedy" and waved banners reading: "Give up the crackdown on the American Communist party," "U.S. imperialism, the enemy of humanity," and "Yankee Go Home."

At another point several demonstrators held up similar banners. Kennedy ignored them.

QUESTIONS STUDENTS

The U.S. president's 36-year-old brother questioned the students at the petroleum institute about their studies and told them:

Ratify Treaty On Columbia 'In 4 Months Or Else..'

SEATTLE (CP)—Canada must ratify the proposed Columbia River treaty within three or four months or the United States will have to make other plans, says a U.S. government spokesman.

Teno Roncalleo, chairman of the U.S. section of the International Joint Commission, said such a course would be tragic for both the Pacific Northwest states and British Columbia.

Roncalleo, a Cheyenne, Wyo., lawyer, said at a Pacific Northwest Trade Association luncheon Tuesday that his country would have no choice but to find other sources of needed power.

The treaty, which Roncalleo called "the best that men of good will from both countries could devise in 16 years of hard work," provides for additional upstream storage on the Columbia in Canada with resulting increased power potential on the U.S. side.

PRINCESS MARGARET'S ISLAND CAUSES MIX UP IN VICTORIA

VICTORIA (CP)—The British Columbia government isn't worried about the future of Princess Margaret's Island in the Gulf of Georgia.

The government has lots of other islands to develop as marine parks, Recreation Minister Westwood said Tuesday, and has no plans to proceed with the development of 545-acre Portland Island.

Previously a spokesman for the Victoria Outboard Motor Club quoted Mr. Westwood as saying he would ask Premier Bennett to write the Princess to seek consent to develop the island.

But Tuesday Mr. Westwood said he had made no such statement.

Details Of Prince's Tour Not Completed—Palace

LONDON (CP)—Buckingham Palace said today details of the itinerary for Prince Philip's entire staff, except for conference, to be held in Canada this summer, are still being worked out.

A spokesman said things are fluid at the moment because Philip's entire staff, except for two secretaries, left London Tuesday on his South American tour.

"This has made it rather difficult to be precise about times and places," the spokesman said. "However, I expect a detailed itinerary will be available in a week or so."

Details will be worked out between the prince's staff in South America and Gordon Hawkins of Toronto, who is the conference's executive director.

The conference will be held May 13 to June 6. The original plan involved visits to Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Niagara Falls, Ont., Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Edmonton and Vancouver.

It is understood at the palace that all these cities are likely to be visited by various conference groups, but it is not necessarily true that the prince himself will appear in all eight communities.

More Trouble Delays Rocket

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Technical troubles with the Thor-Delta booster rocket forced a second straight postponement of the Titan IV weather satellite launching today.

Frantic Rescue Work At 1,600-Foot Level

VOELKLINGEN, West Germany — A violent explosion ripped through a coal mine here today killing at least 89 miners and injuring 78. Another 94 miners were still missing and hopes for their rescue dwindled by the hour.

Twenty-one teams of rescue workers, joined by American troops, were digging frantically to reach the men trapped hundreds of feet underground in the Saar Valley Luisenthal mine.

Above ground, four U.S. Army helicopters transported the injured, many of whom were not expected to live, to hospitals.

The death toll mounted hourly and an official said many of the survivors were critically injured.

A flash of flame down the main shaft of the mine ignited coal dust and set off a giant explosion.

Fire and the cave-in of several levels of the mine killed some workers. Others died when a shock wave threw them against pit walls and smashed their lungs. One survivor told of being hurled against the wall by the shock wave.

FEAR OTHERS DEAD

Rescue workers said they feared many of the trapped men may be dead.

If so, the disaster may turn out to be one of Germany's worst.

About 50 miners were just about to descend into the mine when the explosion occurred. Many died in panic, but returned later to help with rescue operations.

Rescue workers first went to the aid of men on the upper levels and many were brought out, some unhurt.

Ten rescue teams hurried from nearby mines — were at work below ground and helicopters flying a shuttle service rushed the injured to hospitals. Appeals for help in treating the burned and injured brought supplies of transfusion equipment and blood plasma by helicopter and road from the U.S. base at Landstuhl.

Rescue workers said the blast apparently occurred near a training shaft where young miners were working.

Hundreds of weeping and anxious relatives and friends of the trapped miners stood in the pit area, cordoned off by green-coated police, but news from the mine was scarce.

The disaster mine lies in the middle of Luisenthal, a part of the industrial town of Voelklingen, about 200 yards from the local church and next to the railroad station.

Police, firemen, ambulances and relief shifts of miners were mobilized for rescue work. Ambulances from towns of up to 80 miles away raced between the mine and hospitals.

Rescue workers, in white overalls and miners' caps and lamps, descended into the various shafts every few minutes, while others returned.

"They can only stay below a short time," one official explained. "The fires are out, but there is still some gas below."

Returning with black smeared clothes, rescue crews now and then brought a stretcher with a dead or injured miner. Bodies were being taken to a temporary mortuary alongside the mine office.

Jail Death Probe Fails

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—Efforts by the Crown to obtain enough evidence for the laying of capital murder charges in the Nov. 24 killing of a Kingston Penitentiary guard broke down today.

After three days of examination of convicts under oath, Justice of the Peace D. W. Lockett said:

"On the basis of the evidence taken to date, I have decided that no action be taken at this time."

The official presided at closed hearings aimed at getting evidence in the death of guard William C. Wentworth, 42, found dying of stab wounds the morning after he had been locked overnight in a dormitory with 42 supposedly non-dangerous prisoners.

Cuba Food Shortage Spreads

HAVANA (Reuters) — A shortage of food that has been giving Cuban housewives trouble for more than six months now has spread to the restaurants.

The restaurants, mostly nationalized and run by the National Institute of the Tourist Industry, previously enjoyed a privileged position. Although there might be limitations on choice, they were guaranteed all essential supplies in order to maintain Cuba's reputation for catering well to tourists.

With the severance of trade and tourist ties with the United States, the institute's importance faded, although the restaurants continued to be favored.

Many foreigners in Cuba who lived in luxury hotels and dined only at the main restaurants never saw the shuttered butchers' shops or the long lines of hopeful customers in the markets.

Then, just before Christmas, visitors began to find that the waiter at their favorite restaurant was apt to approach them with a long face — and no menu. "Only sea food today," he would announce. "I am sorry."

Now, for the restaurants, there is no chicken, no meat, no eggs.

MEAT IS RATIONED
A numbered card system ensures that the housewife gets half a pound of meat for each member of the family about every 10 days. She may get chicken at $1.60 a pound by standing in line at the market for two hours from 6 o'clock in the morning, and she counts herself lucky to get six eggs in three weeks.

At the restaurants, the only items available are lobster or morro crab (a Cuban specialty), and shrimps or pargo — red snapper, the only fish in Cuban waters worth eating.

There is soup but not butter to put on the roll which accompanies it. Some restaurants offer cream cheese in place of butter, if they can get it.

There are few green vegetables. Carrots are so scarce as to be a delicacy, and the lucky housewife who finds some in the open market pay $1.50 for a little more than two pounds.

In the past, when there have been no potatoes, there has been malanga — a sort of yam — as a substitute. Now, the diner is likely to get a substitute for malanga, boniato, a white sweet potato served in a dull and doughy lump.

When the meal is over, there is plenty of fine Cuban coffee, but no milk.

HIS WIFE NAGGED HE WON FORTUNE
LONDON (AP) — Harry Boggust, 54-year-old maintenance man, learned today he has won $267,111 because of his wife's nagging.

Boggust hit the jackpot on a one-penny bet in the soccer pools. The winnings are not taxable.

He didn't want to mail his coupon last week because postal workers were on a slowdown strike and he feared it might not get delivered in time. But his wife Kathleen kept nagging.

"Go on, send it," she insisted. "Never mind the strike. If you won't fill it in, I will."

So she did, and he mailed the coupon.

Today Mrs. Boggust heard their ship had come in and commented.

"Oh, Mate, That's a hell of a lot of money."

IN TROUBLE AGAIN
DETROIT (AP) — Dr. Fred W. Thomas, 64, who was convicted as a spy for Germany in 1944, was arrested Monday and charged with being part of an abortion ring. Police said the ring was doing a $5,000-a-week business. Thomas served 18 months of a 16-year espionage sentence.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — John Worthington, 91, and his wife, Louisa, 87, celebrated their 67th wedding anniversary today and Worthington observed: "We've got a good life. I don't have any secrets for our happy marriage. It just happened."

Shotgun Wedding Talk Ruffles Victoria Calm

VICTORIA (CP) — There's talk of a shotgun wedding going around municipal circles in the Greater Victoria area.

Not surprisingly, the attitude of the interested parties depends on where they stand in relation to the shotgun.

The two municipalities claiming to be at its business-end have threatened "to take whatever action may be required to protect the democratic rights of our ratepayers" if forced into a formal study of amalgamation. Support for a merger is coming from the core city, faced with a flight of assessment to the suburbs and troublesome traffic problems created by the commuting suburbanite.

The four combatants: Victoria, population about 35,000, area 4,641 acres; Oak Bay district, 10,000 persons, 2,553 acres; Saanich district, 40,000 persons, 25,431 acres; Esquimal district, 11,000 persons, 1,500 acres.

In last December's municipal elections, candidates made their amalgamation positions their platforms.

The dispute has riled the reeves of Oak Bay and Esquimalt and split Saanich council.

MILAS TAKE SIDES
Amalgamation of municipal services or a form of metropolitan government also has been discussed by four Social Credit members of the British Columbia legislature.

"Wake up to amalgamation," said Waldo Skilling, member for Victoria, who urged the province to force the municipalities into amalgamation. He drew support from fellow Victoria member John Smith.

But John Tisdale of Saanich said he wants peace and harmony among area residents, not "submergence of the identities of the municipalities."

Herbert Bruch of Esquimalt also opposed forcible amalgamation. He suggested a county system to eventually take over most metropolitan services.

Reeves George Murdoch of Oak Bay and A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt said in a statement last week that Victoria and Saanich are making a "one-sided effort" to have them participate in amalgamation.

They said they are willing to study the question at an inter-municipal committee level, but were opposed to a formal study, because "if it came to a referendum, a two-thirds majority could nullify 100-per-cent opposition from a council."

They followed up with a newspaper advertisement which set out Esquimalt and Oak Bay positions. If their offer wasn't accepted they would find it necessary "to take whatever action may be required to protect the democratic rights of our ratepayers."

Victoria council has supported the stand taken by Mayor Dick

COUNCIL SHOULD LEAD
She challenged the Meat Packers Council to say why it was not behind the Consumers' Association "or indeed in front of us urging the cessation of this trade."

Estimates placed 80 per cent of the meat sold in Canada as inspected meat under the federal Meat Inspection Act. "What about the remaining 20 per cent?" she asked.

Mrs. Plumptre said that in no province is all meat thoroughly inspected according to federal standards. Some municipal meat-inspection regulations, she added, are hardly worth the paper on which they are printed.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY

By DAVE SHEPHERD

AS THOUGH THE Shepherd family hadn't had quite enough of adversity, with hospitals, operations and busted legs being the seeming common occurrence lately, our Dachshund, Dusty, had to get sick and follow suit.

Dusty has had an operation! He's recovering of course, having obtained the finest in surgical and hospital care obtainable, and, like his master, is on a diet!

He'll be getting his stitches out this week, and taking over his old stand near the warm stove, watching the house and generally allowing us to wait hand and foot on him.

I think Dusty is a nut, despite strong protests from my wife and our friends.

He's as stubborn as a mule, an obvious softy and thoroughly dedicated to his own comfort, no matter who he bothers.

It's for these qualities though, that we love him.

Dogs, as do other animals, suffer pain.

Unlike some human beings though, they bear it stoically, just preferring to be left alone to heal—a factor taken into consideration by nature which consequently speeds up the process in animals.

Dusty, while he was ill, would just lie and gaze at me with a look that made every fibre of my being want to help him.

But he didn't ask or want help.

It's only when he improved that he became his old, irascible self, barking at nothing, pushing me out of my chair and getting in the way scrounging at the table, even though he's never been fed scraps in his entire life.

We knew immediately he was on the mend, and we were happy.

Things had returned to normal.

Except for his diet!

Imagine a dog on a diet!

He's overweight! Like me, it's not from over-eating but under-exercise.

Dusty has always eaten the finest of dog food, but the lazy sod won't budge a muscle except to walk from his bed to my chair!

Once, when I was enjoying an afternoon nap, Dusty joined me.

A friend, who had visited the house during the nap, and of whom I was unaware, watched fascinated as we, Dusty and I, both snored loudly, the dog with all four feet up in the air, shifting with me at every change of position.

The dog was the star of the show and I was the laughing stock of the office for a week. He came off scott-free as the "cute little doggie."

As I said before, Dusty is a nut.

No other person can make that statement.

But you tell me of another animal one can get attached to so closely.

How To Help Winter Works

How each businessman could contribute to keeping seasonal lay-off of skilled labor at a minimum was explained to Rotarians at their recent meeting.

Speaker was Hal Oldum, chairman of the Kelowna Winter Employment Committee.

Mr. Oldum said businessmen could consider the opportunities and possibilities that are available for skilled labor within these two fields. He cited examples of types of work that are seasonal in nature and could be done during the winter months.

He pointed out outdoor work in the winter time was no longer impractical and indicated some of the larger jobs presently being undertaken by the city of Kelowna.

One of the future projects is a spring promotion.

The executive meets once a month, the first Monday at the Chamber of Commerce board room. Any merchants who have any type of suggestion or problem have been asked to air it with association.

Elected president of the 1962 association executive was G. A. Elliott; past president is A. S. Hughes-Games and Edward Sinclair, vice-president. Secretary is F. J. Heatley.

Executive members include Mrs. I. Summers, W. Tobson, Gordon Campbell, A. Olafson, Douglas Haworth, John Webster and D. J. Taylor.

Following a panel discussion on the pros and cons of bidding for the 1964 Convention, the meeting went on record as endorsing this project. Dave Kinney is heading up a committee charged with bidding for the site of this convention at Calgary this July.

Transfer was expressed at the transfer out of town of five prominent members of this unit last month. They were Dick Sharples, leadership training director, Dean Morrisette, Herman Dooyeweerd and Jim Reid.

The annual meeting of the Canadian Lacrosse Association held here during the weekend accepted an offer of the city of New Westminster, to establish the hall in the city's new sports arena.

Well-Known City Man Ray McNroy Dies At 33

A well known city sport enthusiast died suddenly at his home Tuesday morning.

Funeral service will be held Thursday for Raymond W. McNroy, 33, well known as an avid sport fan and "good friend" of many city residents.

Mr. McNroy suffered a heart attack early Tuesday morning. He was born and raised in Kelowna and had been employed as a driver with Jenkins Cartage Ltd. for the past 18 years.

Mr. McNroy, who never missed a hockey game of almost all calibre in the city, was himself considered an expert in the art of billiards and snooker.

In his younger years, Mr. McNroy took an active part in baseball.

He was appearing before a four-man Public Utilities Board hearing the case in Kelowna.

Mr. Muirhead pointed out that in 1952, the average annual wage per employee was $2,460. In 1960, this had increased to $4,400 or by 81 per cent. In 1962, there was also an increase in wages and commencing Jan. 1, 1963 the company has contracted for a further three per cent pay increase for its plant, clerical and traffic departments.

Costs per phone installation, he said, increased from $234 in 1952 to $375 by 1960.

Mr. Muirhead said the company wasn't proposing to increase tolls on station-to-station calls in its long distance operation but rather person-to-person tolls. Technical advances have reduced the costs of long haul calls over short distance calls.

No increase is planned in the station-to-station rate for calls not exceeding 10 miles, he said.

It is proposed a businessman in Kelowna who can communicate through 8,000 phones without extra charge will pay $2.25 a month for the service or $9.75 a month; while a resident in Kelowna will pay only 25 cents a month more than the present rate. It was pointed out the businessman is allowed his telephone expense as a deduction from income for tax purposes.

Representing Kelowna, Pen-ticton and Vernon was city solicitor Brian Weddell who asked Mr. Muirhead if the company was planning any "major" expenditure in the near future. The reply was the company didn't plan anything as big as their Direct Distance Dialing program substantially completed in November, 1960 but that if the Mica Creek project which is within the company's area got underway, it would be considered a "big job."

Mr. Weddell said he didn't propose to call any evidence on behalf of three cities.

Higher Than Other System -

Vernon businessmen and NDP candidate Leslie McLean who pointed out to the hearing the difference between the Saskatchewan phone rates and the Valley company's rates said the "knife appears to be in a little deep for the businessman."

He said the business rate in Sask. is $5.50 as compared to the proposed $9.75 here for what he considered "comparable service."

Mr. McLean told the hearing he felt the telephone company should be required to show why there should be an 86 per cent difference in the rates for business phones and a maximum of 67 per cent difference for home phones between the two systems.

He added he didn't doubt the integrity of the telephone company officials but that there appeared to be a lot of profit somewhere to justify the difference between the two provinces.

He admitted that Saskatchewan had a less rugged terrain and since it was a government system didn't pay taxes but maintained that the prairie system also showed a small profit.

Mr. Muirhead told the hearing there are two major differences

Heatley, secretary and chairman-elect of the tourist bureau, Joe Keenan; to the Traffic Advisory Committee, R. W. Lupton and to the National Employment Committee, O. L. Jones.

Don Robinson (SC—Lilloet) and Jacob Huhn (SC—Peace River North) called for a rural road-building program.

Cedric Cox (NDP—Burnaby), Herbert Bruch (SC—Esquimalt) and Alex Matthew (SC—Vancouver Centre) also spoke in the throne speech debate.

Legislation was introduced to set up a B.C. committee to prepare for Canada's 1967 centennial celebrations.

S. R. Muirhead Explains Stand To Public Hearing

Okanagan Telephone Company superintendant S. R. Muirhead told a PUC board Tuesday that proposed rate changes were as equitable and non-discriminatory as could be worked out to maintain and improve telephone service in the Valley.

Mr. Muirhead was questioned intensively by company lawyer Reginald Tupper on the telephone company plans to raise tolls and charges which the company says are presently insufficient to produce the revenue required to operate and maintain the present operation and to provide a reasonable return.

He was appearing before a four-man Public Utilities Board hearing the case in Kelowna.

Mr. Muirhead pointed out that in 1952, the average annual wage per employee was $2,460. In 1960, this had increased to $4,400 or by 81 per cent. # Half a Day's Work For A Full Day's Pay

The recent strike in New York City by the electricians for a four-hour working day caused considerable comment in this country as well as the United States. The Wenatchee Daily World commented upon it and as the conditions mentioned by the World apply equally as well to Canada as to the United States, the Washington paper's comments are of interest here. The World said:

Many good people are still in a state of semi-shock from the news last week that New York electricians were striking for a four-hour day.

To those who recall the movement toward the eight-hour day and the slogan, "a full day's pay for a day's work," this new development sounds for all the world like "half a day's work for a full day's pay."

The fact that the electricians finally settled for less than their four-hour day, 20-hour week wasn't too much comfort.

They got enough to establish the trend, and to give substance to the goal set by the AFL-CIO convention last month—a national, 30-hour work week.

What the electricians got is probably enough to make a lot of do-it-yourself electricians out of New York home owners.

Under their new agreement, they'll get $161 for a 30-hour week. Really, it's a 25-hour week, though. Because their $161 comes from 25 hours of straight time pay, plus a guaranteed five hours of overtime. They formerly had gotten $165 for 30 hours straight time and five hours overtime and a half.

What will such a thing as a national 30-hour week, or the 20-hour week the electricians sought, do to America?

Well, for one thing, it will raise the cost of producing goods so high that it will virtually eliminate the U.S. from world trade competition. That's the advice of Douglas J. McQuaig, instructor in business administration and economics at Wenatchee Valley College.

It's well and good to spread out the number of people used in the manufacture of goods, but you still have to sell the goods in competition. This could only be done by raising our tariff barriers to give the more expensive goods a captive market. And this is completely contrary to world trends today, and impossible under present U.S. foreign policy.

"We couldn't possibly isolate ourselves economically and still spread ourselves all over the world politically," says McQuaig.

There are other, more immediate considerations against such a short working period, though.

One of these is the fallacy of the theory labor goes on in trying to shorten the work day.

It's a make-work theory. If you shorten the hours one man works you will increase the number of men necessary to do the job, labor reasons. And it might stand up, except that labor wants the workman to get the same pay for his shorter hours that he did before the hours were shortened. Cutting one man's work day in half just doubles the cost of producing whatever he's employed to produce.

Instead of being the protection against automation that labor sees it as, such work reductions really cause automation. They force the labor cost so high that a manufacturer must find some machinery that will do the man's job. So the man's out of work, blaming "automation."

What is the dividing line on the number of hours a workman should expect to work a week in order to earn a living?

There's the first consideration that man's pay must be in relationship to how he produces—how much he adds to the nation's gross national product—not for how long he spends producing it.

Aside from that, man needs a work week short enough to allow him to be part of a family and some time for leisure. But he should not be so idle that all zest for leisure is destroyed.

Sociologists might be able to figure out just what the ideal would be.

Practically, though, labor might use a formula such as this: A work week is too short when one workman can hold down two jobs and still have time for his family and leisure.

When that point is reached, the man will work at two jobs. Instead of creating one extra job, you're just eliminating one. Instead of providing for twice as many men to work, you're really depriving half of them of work opportunity.

The 30-hour week comes mighty close to that point. The 20-hour week is far over the line.

We've certainly not heard the last of the shorter work week. Negotiations in the steel industry will be started soon, and the steelworkers' union has already warned that shorter hours to offset fewer number of workers needed to operate the mills will be a major goal.

But nationally, this trend will create more problems than it will solve.

Quartet Of Sooty Skulls Spoke Of Tribe's History

KAPIT, Sarawak (AP) — A quartet of sooty skulls, well in a shroud of spiderwebs, was attached with tree twines to the roof above my head.

The eerie, fleshless heads spoke of the past of my hosts. The Ibans, once the most ferocious headhunters in Asia.

I happened to visit the Ibans in this isolated country on the northwestern coast of Borneo as the guest of Pengulu Kulleh in his 500-foot longhouse, where a village of 200 persons lived under one roof.

The longhouse is far inland on the Nanga Amang, a riverlet so narrow that the overhanging branches blanket it.

The Pengulu, an elected Iban chieftain was responsible for governing 32 longhouses. He was about 50 years old; a symbol of the transition from the traditional Iban to the more modern one.

WENT BAREFOOT
He was barefoot and wore a white skirt and khaki shorts, while the traditionally-dressed men wore a simple loincloth. His body was covered with bluish tattoos of flower-like circles and tubular designs — a painful body form of Iban glamor.

This small country of 48,250 square miles became a British crown colony in 1946, ending more than a century of rule by the White Rajahs, an English family who had isolated the natives from foreign influences.

It is a country of endless jungle and many rivers, which are the great avenues and small alleys of communication. Far in the interior live the Ibans, many pagan.

The platform and the house were built on 10-foot piles raising them high upon the river bank as an imposing fortress. Some of the longhouses stretch one-quarter of a mile and shelter 600 persons.

Twenty-eight doors opened off a long veranda, leading to the living compartments or Biliks of the individual families in the house.

USE OUTBOARD MOTORS
On the wood and bamboo floor of the veranda, with wide slits in it for easy housekeeping, were hollowed-out shells for carrying water from the river, several outboard motors, a hewn-out log for pounding rice from the husk, mats for sitting on the floor and piles of firewood for cooking. Naul, the Pengulu's son-in-law, stopped to show me his fighting cock which had won a $8.30 bet.

He stopped and pointed above his head. Attached to the roof with tree branches were the four eyeless, noseless, hairless heads collected long ago. Naul told me that no one in the longhouse had chopped a head, but some of the younger men had small tattoos on their hands indicating they had killed a terrorist in the Malayan emergency or a Japanese during the occupation.

Above the veranda was an attic for storing rice and equipment. Unmarried girls often slept there—to be joined later in the evening by a suitor. In the Iban custom of Nyganyap, unmarried persons are allowed trial marriages before selecting a final mate.

The Pengulu invited my interpreter, a 20-year-old Iban named Chui, and me to dinner in his quarters.

CUSTOMS CHANGING
I asked the Pengulu how his

LONDON (CP) — Ten years ago Tuesday King George VI died at Sandringham, and in a hotel room overlooking the lonely hills of Africa a slender, serious young woman became Elizabeth II, sixth reigning queen of England.

She was 25, the same age as Queen Elizabeth I, when she was crowned in 1559. Everywhere there was talk of a "new Elizabethan age."

Britain, gradually writhing out of the iron grip of post-war austerity, was a drab, dispiriting place in 1952.
Rationing — books were still necessary at the grocery store. There were shortages and power cuts. Britain's stature as a world power had shrunk, as had her empire.

At home, the country sometimes seemed to be run by brusque bureaucrats.
Now, the question went, why shouldn't Elizabeth II lead Britain back to the panache of the first Elizabethan age?

It seemed almost too good an omen when, on the morning of Elizabeth's coronation, June 2, 1953, the world learned that two British explorers had conquered

Mount Everest.
The rosy euphoria did not last. It finally evaporated with the Suez invasion of 1956, when the limitations of Britain's imperial authority were posed.

Today the realm over which Elizabeth's father reigned as emperor has dwindled into a commonwealth of assorted independent states. Yet the monarchy has never been healthier.

It has not only come to terms with the modern world — it has enhanced it. The Royal Family, commentators agree, has made contact with ordinary life without degenerating into camaraderie.

This balance between pomp and modern circumstance is due to the hand of the Queen, whose dedicated personality wields an influence one would not have suspected from the rather passive figure who assumed the crown 10 years ago.

Her decisive quality emerged vividly at the time of her Ghana tour last November, when it was believed she insisted on doing whatever her advisers might advise, saying "I have not courage, what am I?"

OTTAWA REPORT

Tongues Wag At 11 Words

In this column Mr. Nicholson, who has been writing this week about the Convention of Paris which he attended, and other European matters, returns to his Ottawa Report.

By PATRICK NICHOLSON
Eleven words in the Governor General's Speech from the Throne have touched off more talk among senators than all the other two thousand words together.

This is not surprising, since those eleven words announce cryptically: "A measure relating to the Senate will be placed before you."

Speculation among senators of course centres upon what that measure will specify, and how individual senators will react to its terms. It is widely anticipated that the purport of the legislation will be to ensure that the rights of all Canadians, especially the rights of minorities and of smaller provinces, shall in future be safeguarded in the manner intended by our Fathers of Confederation. At present such rights too often repose in the inactive hands of old men confined to sick beds, rather than in the strong hands of vigorous defenders taking their allotted places in our upper legislative chamber.

AGE AND ABSENCE

This column recently analysed the attendance record of Senators during the past session. There are three Conservative senators who had passed their 75th birthday; on average they attended 79 of the 92 sittings held by the Senate. There are thirty Liberal senators who have also passed their 75th birthday; their average attendance was at only 47 of the 92 sittings.

That 75th birthday is singled out, because speculation in the Senate today agrees that the government's intended reform of the Senate will almost certainly take the form of imposing retirement at that age.

This retirement can of course readily be made applicable to all future senators. There is a remarkable degree of unanimity among senators that this would indeed be a wise step, to which nobody could reasonably take exception—especially since a similar retirement age was recently enacted for judges. But it is recognized that legislation should never be made retroactive, and this compulsory retirement could not fairly be enforced for present members of the Senate—even though it is suspected that at least five will never again be able to attend on more than a token basis, if at all.

Many of our older senators would evidently be willing and even happy to accept voluntary retirement at once on two conditions. First, that some pension be offered them to replace the senatorial pay which would cease upon retirement; second, that they be permitted to retain the senator's form of address as "honourable" for life. A senator, like an MP, is permitted to be absent on 21 sitting days during each session of parliament. For each day of absence above that number, $50 is deducted from his remuneration, unless a doctor certifies that the absence was unavoidable on the grounds of ill health. It would be commonsense that in any voluntary retirement plan for present senators, this medical loophole be plugged, so that any senators who are chronically ill should ask for retirement rather than continue to draw their full remuneration from a sick bed. The significance of this lies in the fact that 10 senators together totalled only 82 attendances between them last session.

AGE LIMIT URGED BEFORE

If "the measure relating to the Senate" should prove to follow these lines of the senators' educated guessing, it will receive widespread public approval. Senators themselves will agree that it is both reasonable and overdue, and will recall that twelve years ago retirement at age 75 was proposed by the then leader of the Senate, Hon. Wishart Robertson. This met with widespread approval at the time, among senators, although some deplored the assertion of Senator J. T. Hault, now aged 84, that our older senators were "the highest paid pensioners in Canada."

Some Senators near and even above the speculated retirement age are still near the height of their mental powers. One of these, 85 year old Tom Crerar, is among the wisest and most experienced parliamentarians in Canada. Another is his former colleague in the Mackenzie King cabinet, 74 year old "Chubby" Power, who sat in the Commons for 38 years. One hears that Senator Power may accept immediate retirement and once again stand for election to the Commons in his old seat of Quebec South.

NEW NORTHERN PROVINCE

The Northwest Territories Council has decided on the boundaries for Canada's 11th province but the territory may not reach provincial status for 25 years. By 1994 the Northwest Territories will be allowed into two giant territories as outlined on map. The eastern section is as yet unnamed. The heavily-populated mineral-rich Mackenzie

Territory, to be governed by a nine-man council, is bounded by the Yukon, B.C., Alberta and Saskatchewan. Its eastern border runs along the 105th meridian. Fort Simpson, at the junction of the Liard and Mackenzie rivers is the tentative capital. Included in the territory are the Arctic Islands of Banks and Victoria.—(CP Newsmag)

Earl Russell Has Played Varied Roles In His Time

LONDON (AP)—Earl Russell is a philosopher, Nobel Prize winner and now, at 80, a sit-down striker.

His fervent campaign against the atom bomb was climaxed this winter when he went to jail after a sitdown protest in Trafalgar Square.

What makes a man, whom some regard as the greatest thinker of his time, behave this way?

Q. Why are you so fervent and active in your nuclear disarmament campaign?

A. Because new dangers have arisen in the world. Nuclear weapons have introduced an entirely new peril which didn't exist before. Anybody who has any parental affection or any public interest in his own country's continued existence is bound to protest against policies which involve the danger of nuclear war.

WHY RISK ARREST?

Q. Why are you ready to violate the laws of your country and provoke arrest?

A. I've come to that decision very reluctantly indeed. As soon as the bombs were dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki I began talking about the nuclear peril. I talked about it in 1945 in the House of Lords. I then got a collection of the most eminent scientists living, including Einstein, to sign a declaration on this subject. I did all sorts of perfectly legal and constitutional things—and I discovered they cut no ice.

At last I took to illegal action and instantly it was effective. The change was quite extraordinary.

Q. Do you have any faith in the human race meeting the nuclear bomb menace?

A. Faith is a word I don't like. I think the changes are slightly against our finding a solution. It's up to those people who think as I do to do everything possible to persuade people. I'm making a pure guess on the odds, but I'm in the habit of saying that it's about 60-to-40 against.

Q. War has been an instrument of foreign policy to be used when other methods of persuasion fail. What kind of attitude for war do you envisage?

END WAR IN STAGES

A. It's a matter of stages. The first stage should be to admit there isn't any country whose purpose will be served by a nuclear war. That is, it's not in the interests of anyone in the whole world to have a nuclear war. Then, we should say there must be some other method of settling disputes between nations. The first step to take would be to appoint a small conciliation body which I think should have equal representation of East and West and neutrals. This body should draw up compromise proposals for settling the matters in dispute in a manner which on the balance would not give an advantage to either side.

I think it's quite possible that if the neutrals draw up good compromise proposals they might influence both parties to accept them.

Q. Could some sort of mankind survive a nuclear war?

A. I think there could be survivors in the southern hemisphere. They then would be able to have another nuclear war.

Q. Would you make a sitdown protest in the United States or in Russia?

A. I would. The Russians are ambivalent. They like what I do when it's directed against the Western powers and they don't like it when it's directed against them. The same attitude exists in the West.
Q. What briefly is your policy on nuclear disarmament?
A. I want Britain to give up not only possession of the bomb but also the protection which is supposed to be afforded by the bomb. I want Britain to become neutral and leave NATO. As between Russia and the United States I want the bomb abolished by agreement and not unilaterally.

STANDARD MEASURING CUPS

Measuring Cups Have Proven Their Value To Good Cooks

By IDA BAILEY ALLEN

"Luck doesn't control cooking," I remarked to the Chef. "Most certainly not," he agreed. "Good results depend on a complete understanding of the recipe, the right cooking temperatures — both top-of-range and the oven — and, above all, on accurate measurements." "A set of standard glass, look-through, heat-proof measuring cups should be in every kitchen," I added. "A quart pitcher cup, a half-pint straight-edge cup for the measuring of dry ingredients and fats, a pint pitcher cup and a half-pint pitcher cup for smaller amounts of liquid."

USE FOR MIXING

"It is often possible to beat the eggs, then mix pancake or other thin batters in the quart or pint-size cup for easy pouring into the griddle." In the test kitchen we hang a complete set of measuring cups along the white wall above our red counter top. Very decorative.

They also make a welcome shower gift or useful wedding present to prospective brides."

ANN LANDERS

Serve for Breakfast

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to direct a few thousand words to that clown who complained about the high cost of winning his Lady Love. He seems to forget that after the initial investment is made, he collects a handsome return on his money forever after.

On today's market a left-handed cleaning lady gets $9 a day plus carfare. A governess gets $60 a week with Sundays off—and this doesn't include a mother's love. A registered nurse makes $16 a day for an 8-hour shift—and you have to cook for her. A chauffeur makes $80 a week. And a mistress can be more expensive than the whole kit and kaboodle put together.

Any husband who feels that he isn't getting his money's worth out of the little woman should be served this column for breakfast — along with a nice, fat belt in the chops.

CLEANING LADY, GOVERN-
ESS, NURSE, CHAUFFEUR AND MISTRESS.

Dear Ann: I've met a wonderful man who has asked me to marry him. Fred wants to adopt my three children and be a father to them.

I was left a widow eight months ago. Fred has never been married. We are of the same religious faith. Fred told me that he had been seeing a woman regularly but he broke off with her when we started to go together.

I just found out from a reliable source that he had been living with this woman for three years—that she is married, and older than he is.

I know Fred loves me and that he'd be a good provider and a fine father. I'm sick that he did not level with me about his past and that I had to learn of it from someone else. I love him very much and would like to marry him next month—if you say so. Please, please hurry your answer.—WISH I DIDN'T KNOW.

Dear Wish: Well—you DO know, so wake up and smell the coffee.

I'd say your timetable is a little off—like maybe a year. Slow down and give yourself a chance to know Fred.

If he proves to be reliable, honest and faithful for the next 12 months, I'd say he's a fairly safe bet for marriage.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm desperately in need of advice on how to handle the approaching marriage of my daughter, Carol. My wife and I were divorced seven years ago. I have since remarried a wonderfully wise and noble woman.

Carol and a whole parade of boy friends have visited in our home many times and my present wife has gone out of her way to make Carol and her friends feel comfortable and welcome.

My former wife has told Carol that if she wants me to give her away at the wedding I must not bring my wife. She also insists that I sit with her during the balance of the ceremony and stand with her in the receiving line at the reception.

I feel that this would be a slap in the face to my wife. At the same time I would be heart-sick if I did not attend my only daughter's wedding. Please tell me what to do.—QUANDARY.

Dear Quandary: If your wife is as noble and wise as you say, she will volunteer to stay away from the wedding. She will further insist that you give the bride away, sit with your former wife during the remainder of the ceremony and stand by her in the receiving line.

This much you owe your daughter. Your presence should not be construed as a favor to your former wife or an insult to your present wife.

Today's Women of Indochina Have Charm and Gentleness

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (Reuters)—War, politics and internal tensions have made former French Indochina a tense, grim area. But one asset has changed little—the beauty and charm of its women.

Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos, the three countries which make up the former Indochina, vary in many ways but in nothing so much as their women.

Vietnamese women, at least to the Western eye, are the most beautiful. They are slim, graceful and well-groomed and show to a marked degree the influence of the long years of French rule in the country.

Their lustrous eyes and long, black hair blend to perfection with the flowing silken robe, called the "ao dai," which they wear over long, silk trousers, in black or white, reaching to the ankle.

Whether they are schoolteachers or shopgirls, they are all notable for the care they take on their hands, the immaculate painting of their long fingernails, and their carefully-groomed hair.

These Vietnamese women are often described as fragile and doll-like. But 1,500 of them recently joined the new women's para-military corps founded by Madame Ngo Dinh Nhu, first lady of the republic and sister-in-law of the bachelor president Ngo Dinh Diem.

Madame Nhu, svelte, well-groomed mother of four, is an enthusiastic champion of women's rights, and has dealt several deft blows to entrenched male privilege in the last few years.

Reports reaching Saigon from Hanoi, capital of Communist North Viet Nam, indicate that the northern sisters of these Saigon girls also are actively engaged in military training.

In North Viet Nam, however, the "ao dai" has been banned by the government as "irivolous." There, the women dress in short jackets with work-trousers.

Cambodian women, darker-skinned and more buxom than the Vietnamese, dress in sarongs of dark hue, with a brighter-colored blouse above. They lack the grace and allure of the Vietnamese, but have a lighter attitude toward life, and can be seen everywhere in the streets, laughing and jostling each other.

Polygamy, forbidden in Viet Nam, is common in Cambodia, still very much a country of male supremacy.

Above Cambodia is the gentle land of Laos. Here are to be found the gentlest women in all Indochina, combining much of the grace of the Vietnamese with an even happier disposition than that of the Cambodian women.

The Lao dress is colorful and charming. The women wear sarongs in muted autumn tones bordered with brilliant gold embroidery. The sarong, which reaches to mid-calf, is topped by delicately-made blouses in pastel tones, often fastened with pearl buttons.

As in Cambodia, polygamy still exists in Laos, but the senior wife is dominant in the home.

SNOW FLAKE BALL

A number of Kelowna residents will be driving to Vernon on Friday evening to attend the Snow Flake Ball which is to be the big social event launching the Vernon Winter Carnival.

The ball will be held in the High School Auditorium at 9:30 p.m., and the theme of the decoration, "A Winter Wonderland," will form a lovely setting for the nine charming contestants to the title of Queen Silver Star II.

From the ceiling, which will be a canopy of snow flakes, the tables set for the dancers, which will be decorated with shining white miniature snow covered trees, the auditorium will be a veritable winter fairland, and the stage decor, in silver, white and blue, will feature an "Outer Space" motif with special lighting effects to be handled by the Vernon Little Theatre.

For those who do not care to dance the balcony is open, and they are requested to be in their seats by 10:15 p.m. at the latest, so that they may see the presentation of the contestants, their introduction to Mayor and Mrs. Cousins and the crowning of Queen Silver Star II and two princesses by their predecessors.

The Winter Carnival provides fun and gaiety for the whole Okanagan Valley. Mrs. Leon Courcier and her committee have worked very hard and provided a most effective background for the ball, the contestants are all young and lovely, and the Don Ross Orchestra will play for the dance.

Gagliardi Replies To Spallumcheen

ARMSTRONG (Correspondent) — At the regular meeting this week the council of the district municipality of Spallumcheen heard a letter from the Hon. P. A. Gagliardi respecting their recent application to the Department of Highways for a grant-in-aid in the amount of $15,000.

The minister informed council that he is unable to make any commitments until such time as the legislature has dealt with its estimates.

An application for a water license by Joseph and Charles Anderson on "Pound" spring in the Larkin district was before council, and no objection was taken.

A. H. Bannister wrote, complaining that he is being assessed for acreage involved in a roadway bordering his property. The clerk was instructed to make a check with the land registry office.

A letter from the parks commission set out the following rates to be charged for swimming in the heated pool in Armstrong-Spallumcheen Memorial Park: individual swim, 25 cents; single season ticket, $3; family season ticket, $7; locker rentals per season, $1.

These charges apply to anyone 13 years of age or over; all children 12 years and under will be admitted free, with daily hours of use to be decided by the parks board.

With the addition of the heating unit, installed by the Kim Club last fall, the pool will now be open for four months of the year, from May 1 to Aug. 31.

WORKER SURPLUS

KAMLOOPS (CP) — The National Unemployment Service here reports a surplus of labor in most categories. There are 2,085 applicants seeking work compared with 1,874 in the same period last year.

Carnival Parade To Boast A Variety Of Attractions

VERNON (Staff) — Vernon's Winter Carnival Parade will boast many things, including 90 floats, about eight bands, and a score of drill teams. But probably the most unusual entry will consist of dogs.

The Vernon Kennel Club will enter canines in the parade for show and from the obedience training classes. It is expected those in the parade will have graduated from the first obedience class, the second is now under way under the direction of Mrs. W. Symington.

The parade will herald the beginning of the second Vernon Winter Carnival Feb. 17, and will continue until Feb. 26.

More than 150 torch bearers, mostly skiers, will form an escort for Queen Silver Star II, preceding her coronation in Polson Park, Feb. 16, in front of the giant ice palace which is now being constructed.

The procession will form at the Scout Hall prior to the 7 p.m. start of the coronation and will be paraded into the ground by the McIntosh Pipe Band and the Vernon Trumpet Band. The queen will be on a horse drawn cutter as will her two princesses. But carnival officials are taking no chances.

If there isn't any snow... the carriage will be mobile on castors.

Motorists are warned there will be no parking in Polson Park during the coronation ceremonies.

Besides our own Queen Silver Star II, to be announced at the Snowflake Ball Feb. 9, about 20 visiting queens will pay homage. It is hoped that the Indian queen for the Interior of B.C. will also attend.

Gun Club Picks New Director

ENDERBY (Correspondent) — Enderby Gun Club elected Harold Palmer as a director, who pointed out the necessity of having the club registered.

He also said any member owning a pistol should have a permit to carry the firearm to any registered gun club in B.C.

He stated they should use different pistols of 22 calibre efficient for hand-gun shooting competition and 38's as he stated there is competition for 38's and 45's, he also suggested they have rifle shoots for 22's.

It was moved by Mr. Palmer the club purchase a 22 revolver, six shot, or automatic.

Cecil Smith stated they had permission to use the Drill Hall, and Mr. Palmer granted the club permission to use his range, which is situated four miles north of the city.

A meeting date will be set after receiving necessary information from the dominion marksman and the attorney general.

Ski Championships Set

Skiers to participate in the Okanagan Alpine Championships Feb. 17-18 and the Invitational ski jump meet Feb. 25.

They are urged to get their competitors cards immediately. They can be obtained from John Hindle, director, Kelowna, and entry forms may be obtained from any ski club.

The championship will be held in conjunction with the Vernon Winter Carnival, and will be recognized by the Canadian Amateur Ski Association as a qualification tournament for Canadian national ski team.

Post entries will be accepted at noon on Feb. 17, 18, and 19 at Silver Star, Feb. 18, the downhill events will be held at 10:30 a.m. followed by the giant slalom in the afternoon.

It is expected that Vancouver's Sons of Norway will supply 18 jumpers for the Feb. 25 meet, two holding Canadian jumping championships.

Following a two-week mild spell, carnival officials were delighted today to see a fresh covering of snow over the city. Measuring less than 3 inches, the snow nevertheless has abated the concern felt by officials.

"We want lots of snow in the downtown area, and cool, crisp weather... ideal for a carnival," one official said.

During carnival week other highlights are planned: a valentine dance, plumber's bonspiel, B.C. Judo championships, an old fashioned melodrama by the Vernon Little Theatre Association, and "ice-warm" reunion by square dancers and two skiers' dances.

A children's masquerade contest is also planned and skating parties for the smaller fry.

Decorations are now being installed on Barnard Avenue and 32nd Avenue leading to Polson Park. Cobored snowflake banners hang from lamp standards and illuminated "silver stars" stretch across main thoroughfares. Motel-hotel managers say reservations are arriving in good numbers, and ample accommodations are available.

Policing Contract Signed

Policing contract with the Spallumcheen detachment of the RCMP for the period June 1, 1961 to May 31, 1962—which had been delayed due to the municipality's application for exemption under part XX of the Municipal Act—has now been signed.

Applications for weed inspector are to be received by the clerk up to Feb. 22. This will cover the period April 15 to Sept. 15, and the successful applicant is to provide his own transportation.

Uncollected accounts in the amount of $50.60 were ordered written off.

Council J. O. Gill reported on behalf of the Fair Grounds committee, recommending that no charge be made to the Kinsmen Club for their use of the grounds for an Arabian horse show to be held during the summer of 1962.

However, the club will be asked to put up a $1,000 guarantee to ensure that the grounds are left in the same condition as found.

The fire committee was given power to purchase a truck to be used for a supplementary water supply for fire fighting.

New Executive For Dog Club

VERNON (Staff) — A new executive was elected at the annual meeting of the Vernon and District Kennel Club last week. They are: president, William Clouse; vice-president, Mrs. L. Brovid; treasurer, Mrs. H. Barber; secretary, Mrs. Bob McCauley; directors: Randolph Valair, A. Zavaglia, Mrs. J. Johnson and Mrs. William Symington.

A report on the obedience training classes was heard, the first series trained by Mrs. Jack Head. The second class, now in progress is conducted by Mrs. William Symington. Entry forms are available for the sanction dog show to be held at Kelowna, Sunday, Feb. 11. The next meeting will be held March 1, 8 p.m. at the Library of Beairto Elementary School.

Building Permits Fall By $100,000 In Enderby

ENDERBY (Correspondent) — Building permit values dropped by more than $100,000 here last year compared to 1960 totals, it was learned yesterday. Residential buildings totalled $74,330 while business firms were $18,500 for a 1961 total of $92,830. This compared to $196,750 for both classifications in 1960.

The request of the Enderby Lions Club for the rolled top desk was not granted as the council thought that this was city property and should be sold.

Pete Clark was appointed city representative on the recreation committee.

Peter Litzenberger, city foreman, gave a description of a device which is used to detect leaks in water pipe and also used to find where pipe is laid. The council granted permission for the purchase.

A letter from the Okanagan Valley Tourist Association quoting rates for membership was received and filed. No action was taken.

A delegation from the Lions Club attended the council meeting with a request that the city take over the financial burden of running the swimming pool, but that they would continue to care for the building and grounds but found the financial burden was too much.

Oyama Fire Chief Elected For 3rd Consecutive Year

OYAMA (Correspondent) — Oyama's firemen who are one of the few groups left in the Valley who attend all fires and consecutive term at the annual meeting of the Oyama Voluntary Department held in the fire hall this week.

In his report to the department members, Chief Elliot gave thanks for the support he had received during the past year and warned that during the coming year he will be asking firemen to give even more time to training if the department is to reach the degree of efficiency that he requires.

Harold Butterworth, chairman of the trustees of the Oyama Fire Protection District, reported to members on progress so far in the setting up of mutual aid in the Valley. His remarks were received with enthusiasm and followed by the firemen pledging themselves to support any agreements entered into by the trustees.

NETTAKA, B.C. This attitude was appreciated by Mr. Butterworth who was well aware that mutual aid could entail more work for Treasurer Malcolm Degar reported that 1961 has been a "good year" financially with profits of just over $300 from the many money-making undertakings the members had undertaken.

All but $20 of these monies had been used to purchase fire equipment for the district and for the members' protection and included an air pack, lengths of hose and firemen's coats and boots.

Highlight of community service work done by the firemen had been the construction and maintenance of a diving raft for the use of local residents.

Monies for materials for this project had been supplied by the Oyama Community Club.

City Recreation Scene Loaded With Activity

Opportunity to participate in the various City Recreation activities is being taken quite seriously, according to a report by City Recreation Director Jack Brown.

Monday evenings in the Junior High School Gym there are some 35 men registered for volleyball and trampolines. Tuesday evenings at the Dr. Knox High School there are 75 boys and girls registered in the Track and Field Club. They participate in conditioning exercises and volleyball for a two-hour period from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. At the same gym there are 30 boys of all ages turning out for wrestling instructions.

Tuesday evening at the Junior High School gym there is husband wife volleyball and tennis instruction with 20 participants from 8:00 to 9:00 p.m.

Wednesday, the Gymnastic Club of 35 boys and girls are training for the coming gymnastic competitions. Mrs. Cooper is training a girl's team and Jack Brown the boy's team. After this class Mrs. Cooper conducts a women's keep-fit class with 25 women registered.

CONDITIONING PLAN
At the Junior High School Thursday the Kelowna Swim Team of 50 boys and girls are going through a conditioning program to be ready for the early spring and swimming at the Capri Motor Inn pool. The same night at the Gordon Elementary School from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. the Boxing Club with 30 boys ages 7 to 14 registered, go through their paces under the watchful eyes of three instructors, Alex Mitchell, Harry Hurlstield and Jack Sherlock.

MASS DISPLAY
Saturday morning Mrs. Cooper's gym classes and the boys' gym classes in the afternoon, with 250 attending these classes, are preparing for the Mass Gym Display to be held in the Arena April 14. From 4:00 to 5:00 p.m. Mrs. Cooper and Jack Brown work with the gymnastic team with their routines.

During the cold spell in January two outdoor skating rinks were made with each surface having approximately 500 square feet of ice. Boys, girls and adult skaters enjoyed the outdoor skating both in the daytime and evening. Minor hockey coaches took advantage of this and had their teams on the ice for skating and hockey practice. It was more or less an experiment and next year an ice surface in each district would prove very popular for young and old.

Over a week there are 540 participants in recreation in Kelowna with very little duplication in attendance at the various classes.

Smokies Dump Warriors 9-4

ROSSLAND (CP)—The world-champion Trail Smoke Eaters beat Rossland Warriors 9-4 Tuesday night before about 200 Western International Hockey League fans.

Rossland led 2-1 at the end of the first period. At the end of the second it was 5-3 for Trail.

Ray Demore opened at the 17-second mark for Rossland, Norm Lenardon equalized for the Smokies, and Wiggy Davis put Rossland ahead again minutes later.

Owen Mailey opened the second period to put Rossland ahead 3-1. From then on Rossland led grip of the game. Trail Captain Cal Hockley shot one in at 6:51, followed by two fast counterattacks. George Ferguson's shot, the final counter of the frame, put the visitors ahead 5-3.

The other Rossland goal came from Glen Harstead in the third period. Trail added four more goals in the third, on shots by Lenardon, Larry McLaren, Russ Kowalchuk and Gerry Penner.

Don't Underrate Boston Says Leaf Goalie Bower

Goalie Johnny Bower of Toronto Maple Leafs is irked at people who underrate Boston Bruins.

He figures the Bruins, winners of only 12 of 52 National Hockey League games this season, have just about ruined his chances for a second straight Vezina Trophy — and the $1,000 that goes with it.

"It makes me laugh when I hear somebody say the Bruins are not of NHL calibre," Bower said in an interview.

"They certainly were strong enough for anybody the last three times they played on Toronto ice."

In those three games, the

Peachland Gals Plan Annual Bonspiel

Plans for the annual bonspiel of the Women's Curling Club were discussed at a general meeting held this week.

The three-day event of the club is to get underway on Friday, February 9 with a coffee party at the rink in the morning.

Saturday evening, Feb. 10, a banquet is to be held in the Legion Hall for all participants. Ex-curlers may obtain tickets for this affair through the secretary Mrs. Dorothy Sanderson.

Referees for the 'spiel are to be N. Schulberg, president of the men's club, F. Brent, V. Oakes and W. Budd of Sumnerland.

Three members of the club have been invited to attend an event in Penitence on Feb. 11 in connection with the Women's Provincial Playdowns, being held in the Peach City.

Members were also invited to Penitence on Monday, Feb. 5 to meet Mrs. Hazel Watt, president of the Canadian Women's Curling Association.

Other business out of the meeting was a decision to cater for the banquet during the Peachland Curling Club 'spiel' to be held on February 23, 24, and 25.

BREAKS MORE RECORDS

seconds with a time of 01:45.1. He also broke the 800 meter record by 1.4 seconds with a time of 01:41.3 seconds. He's shown at Wellington, N.Z., shortly after the meet during which he set the mile record.

Many stars of the former years return Feb. 24 to support the future of hockey in the Okanagan Valley.

A Shrine All-Star game, as part of the Vernon Winter Carnival under sponsorship of the Vernon Shrine Club, will be played at the Vernon Civic Arena at 8 o'clock.

Funds raised from this game go towards the Cripple Children's Hospital.

Hockey fans in the Okanagan will have the opportunity of seeing in action many of the best known players of the past 10 years.

Immediately after the game the players and their ladies will be entertained at a cabaret held at the Roundup. To those wishing to join their hockey friends at this affair, a limited number of tickets will be available.

Lary Signs '62 Contract With Tigers For $35,000

NEW YORK (AP)—Pitcher Frank Lary of Detroit Tigers, whose main claim to baseball fame is his ability to beat New York Yankees, has made the habit pay off.

Lary, 36, signed his 1962 American League contract Tuesday for a reported $35,000, making him the highest paid Tiger hurler since southpaw Hal Newhouse started for Detroit in the 1940s.

Lary had his finest year in 1961, winning 23 games and losing nine. He was the only American League pitcher besides Whitey Ford of the Yankees to win at least 20 games.

Lary defeated New York four times in six decisions last season. His career record against the Yanks is 27-10.

There was brisk signing activity on other fronts, with a host of major leaguers falling into line.

Veteran pitcher Harvey Haddix became the 29th Pittsburgh Pirate to come to terms. Shortstop Roy McMillan signed with Milwaukee, the 24th Braves player in the fold, and third baseman Jim Davenport was the 25th San Francisco Giant to sign.

Others included infielder Jim Mahoney of Cleveland Indians, infielder Billy Gardner and outfielder Jack Reed of the Yankees, pitchers Al Schroll and Gerry A. Figo of Minnesota Twins and pitchers Dwight Gooden and Marcelino Lopez and catcher Clay Dalrymple of Philadelphia Phillies.

Only 4 Rinks Unbeaten In 'Spiel

PENITENCE (CP)—Only four rinks remained undefeated Tuesday with just one game left to play in second-round primary events of the British Columbia Curling Association bonspiel.

Heading the list of unbeaten rinks was central B.C. zone champion Lloyd Harper of Quessnell. Harper was the only one rink not to suffer defeat in the first two rounds.

Six zone champions are competing in the BCCA's 67th annual bonspiel which acts as a preliminary to the double-elimination provincial semi-finals opening here Thursday.

Harper, Ken Fuks of Peachland and Mickey Brennen and Reg Stone, both of Trail, sported 4-0 records after the second round of "A" and "B" events. Three of the rinks had reached the eighth, or quarter-finals, of both events. Stone, who has won the provincial title five times, was in the eighth of "B" event but needed a win over West Kootenay zone champion Buzz McGibney of Rossland to enter the eighth of the other event.

Stone and McGibney were to meet at 8 a.m. Wednesday in what was expected to be one of the best matches to date.

Seven zone champions and rinks reaching the fourth of either primary event will compete in the elimination competition for the BCCA championship.

Eric Blagrove of Kimberley, the East Kootenay zone winner, did not enter the bonspiel but will play in the semi-finals.

Here are results of Kelowna curlers in the various events as received through the Canadian Press wire service.

Canucks Nab Semi Opener As Rabid Fans Cheer On

PRESSBOX ICECHIPS

By CHARLES E. GIORDANO

Fans who attended last night's junior hockey game at Memorial Arena can be credited with spending their money wisely.

From start to finish the game was without a doubt one of the finest exhibitions of junior hockey ever played in Memorial Arena.

Some 500 fans, including a wild troupe of Vernon backers who travelled here in cavalcade form, were treated to a sharply-played, exciting fixture that featured everything from fighting on the ice to fighting in the stands.

Although a deplorable situation and a poor example for youngsters, the fans provided a sidelight entertainment.

It all started in the Vernon section of the arena when Referee Ay Swayne of Kamloops disallowed a goal by Vernon at the bell sounded to end the first period.

Immediately jumping to his feet, along with all other Vernon fans, was League President Bill Brown who bitterly protested the call.

and was heard arguing with various fans to the effect the goal should have been allowed as the green light, which signifies no more play, was not on otherwise the red goal light could not have gone on—a system most arenas use.

He told one spectator he would gladly relinquish his position as president of the league in view of the way the game operated.

When confronted by a Daily Courier reporter after the game, Brown said he would resign his post as president to let a member of the Kelowna team executive take over.

It was this Kelowna member that Brown argued with following the first period.

Actual fist fighting got underway three-quarters of the way through the second period when two fans tangled horns.

At the same time many other would-be prize-fighters, judo artists and wrestlers took to the activity.

One fan could be seen from the press box, rolling down the stands as the result of heavy blows from another fan.

While this was going on, players out on the ice battled hard in the opening game of what could still be a highly-entertaining semi-finals series.

Bucks Have Tough Battle With Fired-Up Vernon Complement

By ROBERT BAUER
(Courier Sports Writer)

Backed by a crowd of some 250 Vernon fans coupled with a full compliment of players for the first time this season, proved the determining factor Tuesday night as Vernon Canadians captured the opener of the semi-final playoffs by nipping Kelowna Buckaroos 2-1 at Memorial Arena.

The game was a thrill packed affair, exciting all the way and never letting up.

Hockey fans young and old alike (a total of 500) were rewarded with a combination of hard, fast, close checking hockey with unlimited body contact.

Both clubs fought a straightaway battle from the opening whistle, never saying die.

FIRE UP
"We came here fired up, we're leaving here fired-up, and we won't back down," asserted Vernon coach Odie Lowe in the dressing room afterwards amongst an excited crew of Junior Canadians.

Vernon marksmen were Gord Newens and captain Seicko Ouchi while Terry Kassabuchi picked up the lone Kelowna marker.

The opener marked the first time this season that a referee and two linesmen were used, and will continue throughout the playoffs.

From the opening stanza officials had all they could handle and then some, handing out a total of 19 penalties with Buckaroos topping the poll with a total of 22 minutes in the sin bin followed by Vernon with 16 minutes.

Kelowna's defence led by rough, tough Phil Larden once again deserve special mention playing a continuous outstanding defensive game.

CREDIT GOALIES
Unlimited credit must be given both goalies who turned away time after time what seemed to be almost certain goals.

Kelowna netminder Sid Shusel carried a shutout until 11:06 of the final frame when Newens picked up the puck on a breakaway from centre ice and slipped it past the Kelowna custodian.

Buckaroos' high flying newcomer Terry Kassabuchi, a constant threat to the opposition, opened the scoring at 15:59 of the first period, assisted by linemates captain Bob Gruber and Martin Schaefer when he cut in from the left side of the net and flipped the rubber by goalie Bob Jones.

Although the second period was scoreless, both clubs provided plenty of action with four penalties being handed out, three to Kelowna and one to Vernon.

Quichi Provides The Winner

At 17:13 of the final frame Ouchi provided the winner when he picked up a pass from Dale Sorchuk and blasted the puck point blank into the Kelowna net.

The final two minutes of the game saw the Bucks pouring on the coal with shot after shot only to have Jones turn them away like a pro.

As the final bell sounded Vernon fans jumped the boards and mingled with the winning Canadians, congratulating Jones in turning away the final Kelowna attack.

Hockey fans can again be assured of another spectacular brand of hockey when these same two clubs tangle in the second game in Vernon on Thursday.

Sam The Man Will Stick To NFL

TORONTO (CP)—Sam Etcheverry says he plans to stick to the National Football League for the time being.

Here for a television appearance, the 31-year-old St. Louis Cardinals quarterback said in an interview Tuesday night the NFL will be his territory "for at least four or five years."

"There have been rumors that he planned to return to Canada ever since he was quoted as saying last year that 'I'd rather play in Canada than sit on the bench in St. Louis.'"

Etcheverry, who went to the Cards after Montreal Alouettes attempted to trade him to Hamilton Tiger-Cats, sat on the bench part of last season. Bursts in the elbow of his passing arm dampened his style but Etcheverry says those troubles are gone.

CANUCKS SEEK AID
VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Canucks of the Western Hockey League said Tuesday they have asked Toronto Maple Leafs for player help.

Playing coach Phil Maloney said he telephoned Punch Imlach of the National Hockey League club, asking about the availability of shankos (V) fighting 14:31; Paul Jackson who now is playing with Pittsburgh.

Advisory Group Suggests $500,000 Sport Program

OTTAWA (CP)—A $500,000 program of bursaries and awards for local and university-level training in fitness and amateur sport was recommended Tuesday by the new national advisory council on fitness and amateur sport.

Winding up its two-day inaugural meeting, the 30-member council also approved nearly $15,000 in special emergency grants for international athletes.

These were the first decisions taken by the council in its appointment task of allocating a $5,000,000-a-year federal grant aimed at promoting fitness and amateur sport in Canada.

The special grants went to Canadian Amateur Ski Association, $9,375 to complete its European training program for 40 Canadian skiers.

Toronto speed skater Paul Enoch, $500 to send him to next week's world speed skating championships in Moscow.

Canadian Wheelmen's Association, $5,000 to send a seven-man cycling team to the Tour de l'Avenir in France July 1-14.

HOPE FOR FAST ACTION
Chairman Ken Farmer of Montreal said council members hope the government will act quickly on its recommendations.

He said the meeting Tuesday did not have enough time to study all of the 350 requests for aid which have been received since parliament approved the project last year.

A second meeting has been set for Ottawa April 16-17 when other grants will be decided.

The council also endorsed the idea of a Canadian sports festival to be started in 1965 and to be held every four years, plus establishment of a national fitness centre.

Wings Trade Pete Gogean

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Red Wings today acquired defenseman Noel Price from New York Rangers, giving up defenseman Pete Gogean and an unannounced amount of cash. Both players are 26.

Price had been playing with New York's American Hockey League farm club at Springfield and will join the Red Wings Wednesday night in New York. He formerly played in the National Hockey League with Toronto and the Rangers.

Gogean was in his fifth season with Detroit.

World Hockey Championships Moved Ahead

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (CP)—Plans for holding the world ice hockey championships here March 8-18 were pushed ahead here Tuesday under direction of Robert LeBel, of Chambly, Que.

LeBel, president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, was attending a two-day meeting of the executive committee.

There has been a strong possibility the championships would not be staged here because of difficulty in getting the East German team here to take part.

Colorado Springs' hopes of staging the tournament were boosted Tuesday by word from Oslo that the hockey federations of Denmark, Finland, Norway and Sweden had decided to end their teams to the United States.

Here's how to work it:

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, Y for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

EXPORTS TO CUBA UP

Canadian exports to Cuba in the first nine months of 1961 totalled $21,492,000, almost triple the nine-month total of $7,502,000 in 1960. But exports dropped sharply in September, 1961, to $1,080,000 from $2,104,000 in the previous month and a high of $3,401,000 in April. Graph traces monthly export trend since Fidel Castro took power Jan. 11, 1959. — (CP Newsmag)

Opening lead—nine of spades. Seven spades would have been a better contract, but the final contract of seven notrump was certainly sound enough. South could hardly stay out of seven with his enormous hand after North had opened the bidding vulnerable and shown the A-K of spades in response to the Blackwood call.

If West had led any suit but a spade, South would have made thirteen tricks easily, but West shrewdly avoided a lead away from one of his queens.

The spade opening presented South with a problem of play which he managed to solve successfully. Starting with twelve sure tricks, he had to decide which of the three possible finesses to choose for the all-important thirteenth trick.

Of course, if he had ended by taking one of the finesses, he would have gone down one, since West had all three queens, but he wound up making the hand by choosing clubs as the suit to finesse if it eventually became necessary.

After winning the opening lead with the ten of spades, he cashed the A-K of hearts and A-K of diamonds, intending then to run the spade suit and bring himself down to just the A-K of clubs. But when the queen of diamonds fell, his worries were over and he could claim the rest without bothering with the finesse.

This method of play, easily the best, was backed by sound reasoning. The lead of the A-K of hearts gave him a 19% chance to drop the singleton or doubleton queen.

The lead of the A-K of diamonds gave him an additional 19% chance to catch the singleton or doubleton queen of that suit.

At the same time, South did not relinquish his 50% chance of winning the club finesse if it turned out that neither red queen dropped as hearts and diamonds were led.

In choosing clubs as the suit to reserve for a finesse, South maintained exactly the same chance of a successful finesse as he would have had if he had chosen to finesse in either hearts or diamonds.

PRAYERS ANSWERED?

Praying to avert a day of doom may be the right thing to do. Here a bearded Sadhu, or Hindu priest, and his congregation pray in New Delhi, to mollify their gods for the domosday soothsayers said was due Monday. The world seems to be still spinning as normal, so maybe the prayers worked.

Kennedy Wants Steel Pact Agreed On Within Weeks

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy wants a steel pact in a matter of weeks. If there is delay, he has full power to head off a mid-year strike and disruptive steel inventory buildup as well.

The reason is that the 80-day cooling-off injunction procedures of the Taft-Hartley labor law can be invoked to prevent a strike from occurring as well as to stop one that has already started.

With both the president and Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg saying repeatedly that a steel strike in this stage of half-developed economic recovery is unthinkable, it's logical to assume that a demand for a steel pact wouldn't let a steel walkout occur.

But besides not wanting a strike the administration wants to avoid the usual overstocking of steel in advance of a strike threat. Both Kennedy and Goldberg have said this should be avoided as economically disruptive—a production letdown inevitably following a production buildup.

Thus, if the industry and Steelworkers Union fail to heed the administration advice to come up with an early settlement, it should surprise no one if the president lets "be known publicly he intends to put the Taft-Hartley procedures into effect early."

A promise of this sort—that there would be no strike when present steel contracts expire June 30—certainly would substantially discourage steel customers from overstocking.

If all this came about, the threat of any steel strike would be put off from July 1 to past mid-September when the 80-day no-strike period ran out. Even then, the odds probably would be against a walkout—because Congress, too, could step in to prevent one.

Such discussion is perhaps premature. It's still early in the game. The union is to come up with its demands for contract changes today in Pittsburgh. Such demands are traditionally a statement of goals rather than realistic, a 11y expected attainment. The administration is pouring the heat on both sides to get going toward an early agreement.

SO HE WANTED TO BE GALLANT

TORONTO (CP)—A truck driver hero who wanted to prove that chivalry isn't dead wound up in police custody Monday night, nursing his shattered illusions of gallantry.

Police said Robert Petroff, 29, was driving his truck Monday night when he saw a woman running from a parked car.

The trucker decided the woman must have been molested so he stopped his truck, approached the parked car and belted the driver with a length of hose.

Police said the woman was running for a street car after the driver of the car had given her a ride to the car stop.

The trucker was charged with assault.

U.S. Profits Surge Ahead

NEW YORK (AP)—Two out of three U.S. companies reporting their 1967 profits pulled ahead of their 1966 net income after taxes. As a whole, United States corporations reporting so far made 3.3 per cent more.

Most of the gainers thank a pickup in output and sales in the final months which helped reverse the earnings decline in the first half of 1967. Many also credit mechanization programs that cut operating costs, bringing slightly better profit margins in ratio to sales.

Returns by 647 corporations bettered their 1966 showings by 3.3 per cent—or $10,573,397,000 in 1967 vs. $10,328,656,000 the previous year.

ARCHAEOLOGIST DIES
NAPLES, Italy (AP)—Matteo della Corte, noted Italian archaeologist, died Monday at the age of 87 after a long illness. Della Corte, long associated with excavation work at Pompeii, was a member of archaeological societies in France, Germany, the United States and Britain.

Determined Canadians Seek More for Uranium

LONDON (CP)—A small, but determined band of Canadians is mustering all the persuasive powers at its command in an effort to talk the British Atomic Energy Authority into paying what they consider a reasonable price for 12,000 tons of uranium.

The sessions, which started last week and are continuing, mark another phase of Anglo-Canadian negotiations over a letter of intent given by Britain to buy the uranium between 1963 and 1966.

The talks are secret. Official spokesmen would say only that they are going well and that Britain is willing to buy and Canada willing to sell the radioactive metal.

It is understood, however, that the price Britain is to pay is the big stumbling block. The British negotiators are taking full advantage of the fact that there now is a plentiful supply of uranium. They are doing everything they can to keep the price as low as possible.

SOUGHT $8 A POUND

The Canadians originally hoped to get $8 a pound for the metal—roughly the price the Crown-owned Eldorado Mining and Refining Limited is paying to uranium producers.

The British negotiators hoped to push the price down to as little as $5 a pound, below the cost of production.

The Canadians may accept the lower price and take the loss as part of a program to keep uranium mines operating during the lean years immediately ahead for the industry.

Britain signed the letter of intent to buy the metal in 1957, when there was a profusion of optimistic reports on the prospects for nuclear power development. This was also at the time of the Suez crisis, when the island country's petroleum energy sources appeared in jeopardy.

WOULD TAKE LESS

Later, the Atomic Energy Authority conceded it would not need the huge quantity of uranium it agreed to buy. In 1958 and 1959, the authority tried unsuccessfully to talk the Canadians into reducing the amount agreed upon in addition to the two earlier firm contracts for 10,000 tons of uranium oxides.

In talks which have gone on intermittently during the last year, Canadian negotiators appear to have established that the letter of intent was a contract to buy.

The Canadian group was headed last week by W. M. Gilchrist, Eldorado's president. He returned to Canada during the weekend, leaving high-level assistants to carry on the job.

Owners Of Pacific Atoll Offer It To Dutch Forces

The Hague (Reuters)—"The owners" of a Pacific island have offered it to the Dutch as a landing strip for planes flying troops to New Guinea.

The Dutch foreign office said the offer came in a telegram from "the owners" of the atoll of Palmyra, about 1,100 miles southwest of Honolulu. In official language, it is being "considered."

The United States has refused to allow Dutch troops to pass through its territory to Dutch-held West New Guinea, under a "liberation" threat from Indonesia.

The spokesman said planes would need a two-mile landing strip, radar and fuel supplies. Palmyra consists of 55 small islets and is only five miles long and 1½ miles wide. The United States annexed it in 1912 and authorized building of an air base there in 1939.

In 1947 the U.S. Supreme Court ruled against the government's claim on the atoll, which is apparently still privately owned.

If You Want Walking Hose This Is Place To Get It

TORONTO (CP)—Some 15,000 items are on display at the Canadian Hardware Show this week, including zarfs, snaths and astrigals.

The show is not open to the public, but about 18,000 trade representatives are expected to make floor sales topping the $1,250,000 of 1967.

Among new items on display are:

A walking hose, consisting of a lawn sprinkler and hose reel on wheels which reel rolls up the hose to the tap, sprinkling as it goes.

A can of compressed air for car tire emergencies.

A powder for shaking on fish lures to make them glow in the dark—illegal in some parts of the United States but legal in Ontario.

Incidentally, a zarf is an ornamental handle for a teacup; a snath is a scythe handle, and an astrigal is a weather-stopper for use between double doors.

HAVING TIME OF HIS LIFE

SHREWSBURY, England (AP)—A mystery man apparently bent on putting all Shrewsbury's public clocks out of action has struck again for the sixth time.

The minute hand of a clock on a 50-foot factory tower was gone when a policeman looked up to check the time just after midnight.

The series of clock raids began last December. The unknown prowler has climbed towers up to 100 feet tall to wrench off or bend the clock hands.

Congress Told Of Crisis In U.S. Schooling

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy told Congress Tuesday a crisis in American schooling makes it imperative that a five-year, $5,700,000,000 aid-to-education program be enacted this year. He asked no help for church and private elementary and high schools.

It was this exclusion of parochial schools that stalled the aid for classroom construction and teachers' salaries program last year in a congressional row over help for church schools.

But Kennedy, a Roman Catholic, said again today in a special message that his program offers "the maximum scope permitted by our constitution."

He contends federal outlays for church schools would violate the constitutional concept of separation of church and state.

Kennedy's program of federal loans, grants and scholarships at every level of learning would cost $1,500,000,000 in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

PUBLISHER SUES NAACP
COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—David Lee, Negro publisher of a weekly newspaper at Anderson, filed a $10,000,000 suit in U.S. district court here Monday against the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The suit charged the NAACP with conspiracy to put him out of business by encouraging persons not to buy his newspaper.

SAME TAX RATE
BROCKVILLE, Ont. (CP)—The roads tax mill rate for the United Counties of Leeds and Grenville will be unchanged this year, at 6½ mills. The assessment, at a slightly increased figure, will produce a total of $670,000, or $20,000 more than last year.

OTTAWA (CP)—Brig. T. A. Johnston, 54, of Ottawa has been appointed deputy commissioner of St. John Ambulance, J. H. Moison, chancellor of the order, announced Monday. Brig. Johnston retired recently as deputy adjutant-general and director-general of army personnel at army headquarters here.

KILLERS GET LIFE
BANGKOK (Reuters)—A military court today sentenced two men to life imprisonment for the murder of Princess Laxmi Lavan, 61-year-old consort of the former king of Thailand and younger sister of Deputy Prime Minister Prince Wan Wathayakorn. The pair confessed they killed her for money and jewels.
